

What is new in the old, old in new?

Promising tomorrow's future today

or building today the legacies of tomorrow?

Innovative and agile always
To do forgotten how we have upgrading and adapting, running out of time, learning to forget gracefully alongside our technologies and computational practices?

tradition and wisdom

Embedded with tradition and wisdom

enduring and long-lived?

Of building away the legacies of tomorrow?

Creep & creak, or the well-oiled machine? How do we age gracefully?

Good riddance to bad practices, wasted efforts, rot that's fallen away.
